

Rep. Boyle is a newly elected State Representative from the 170th District. Our district is based in Philadelphia which includes most of Somerton, Bustleton, Parkwood, and Burholme. We also represent Rockledge Borough and a portion of Abington Township in Montgomery County. He is 32 and a graduate from Notre Dame and Harvard University. Brendan was also ranked in the list of "Top 10 Young Politicos in Philadelphia".

As a state legislator, Rep. Boyle has already introduced legislation which would eliminate early parole for repeat violent offenders. Rep. Boyle has also introduced legislation which would grant a high school senior with a 3.0 GPA and 90% attendance the opportunity to go to any state university tuition and fees free.

Our staff is energetic, enthusiastic about being able to help the constituents of our district and work on legislation that will affect their lives. We have two district offices open, in Burholme and Somerton.

The internship experience which you would receive from us is different from any other. We believe in giving our interns the role of policy research, drafting of legislation, running district events and constituent service. The internship would be very hands on. Our past interns have gone on to become paid legislative assistants. Rep. Boyle believes in the idea of promoting within.
