

Accounting scandals rampant.
Congress calls for significant overhaul.
Twenty years later — Did it work?

SARBANES-OXLEY TWO DECADES LATER

A virtual event sponsored by the Accounting Department &
The Pedro Arrupe, S. J. Center for Business Ethics

Thursday, May 13

NOON to 1:30 PM on ZOOM

Panelists include:

Mary Jo White

Former Chair of the US Securities and Exchange Commission; former US Attorney, Southern District of New York; current Debevoise & Plimpton LLP Partner and leader of firm's Strategic Crisis Response and Solutions Group

Reese Blair '98

Deloitte Audit Partner specializing in the firm's Financial Services Practice and Investment Management Group

James Kaiser '79

Former PCAOB Board Member; former PwC LLP Partner and member of the firm's Global Assurance Executive Leadership Team

Joseph Wolk '88

Johnson & Johnson, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, and member of the company's Executive Committee

Mark Gerber '82

Panel Moderator; FBI, Assistant Director of Office of Internal Auditing; former PwC LLP Partner and leader of the firm's Forensics Services Practice for the Philadelphia region

At the dawn of the 21st century, several prominent public company accounting scandals -- including Enron, WorldCom, and Cendant -- prompted the US Congress to enact the landmark Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002.

SOX, as the Act would come to be known, has had a significant impact on Corporate America and has forever changed the accounting profession.

We have assembled a distinguished panel to examine nearly 20 years of SOX's history. We'll consider the Act's influence on the global capital markets and discuss how US business has evolved to address its requirements.

Scan the QR code

or click here to register

Haub School of Business