LINDBACK AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED TEACHING
DENNIS McNALLY, S.J., PH.D.
1944-2020

For his exceptional commitment to teaching and to his students, Dennis McNally, S.J., professor of art in the College of Arts and Sciences, is posthumously receiving the prestigious George and Mary Lindback Foundation Award for Distinguished Teaching. Fr. McNally exemplified cura personalis. Caring deeply that each student was learning, he experimented with many kinds of pedagogical strategies. He was deft at coaxing from the students the most salient features of the artwork, guiding them on a path of discovery. In studio classes, his students analyzed each other's works, creating a community of artists, including Fr. McNally, learning together.

In his long career at Saint Joseph's, he developed and taught new courses in ceramics, figurative sculpture, art and architectural history, and art education, and revised existing courses to address the University's curricular changes. He also taught study abroad classes in five cities and traveled on service immersion trips with students to Tijuana and Appalachia.

Students flocked to his classes, worked hard, discovered that they can do things they did not think they could, and gave his courses rave reviews. To quote just two: "Fr. McNally created an environment where I was intrigued to learn," and "Fr. McNally and the class played a huge role in building up my confidence in my own creativity."

TENGELMANN DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AND RESEARCH AWARD
ALTHIER LAZAR, PH.D.

Dr. Althier Lazar, professor of teacher education in the School of Health Studies and Education, is the 2020 recipient of the Tengelmann Award for Distinguished Teaching and Scholarship.

According to her colleagues, Dr. Lazar's teaching effectiveness and impact on student learning has contributed to the overall success of Saint Joseph's University's undergraduate and graduate programs in teacher preparation. Her courses provide real-life examples that connect educational theory to classroom practice. Her teaching informs effective literacy teaching practices in urban classrooms by identifying the literacy needs of students, the instructional practices that work well for students, and the changes needed to move teachers toward a pedagogy of success for urban learners.

As director of the reading specialist program since 2012, she recruits teachers from local schools to become reading specialists. She provides continued advising and mentoring support when they return to the classroom. Through these activities she has built strong partnerships with these schools, fostered community engagement, and promoted the University's mission of excellence in teaching.

Dr. Lazar's academic and scholarly energies reflects the University's Jesuit tradition, values of social justice and caring for the whole person. Her teaching is focused on preparing educators who teach for social justice; have the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to confront educational inequity; and to support culturally and linguistically responsive pedagogy. Her scholarship goes beyond teaching children how to read, to changing the mindset of future educators so that they are more effective in reaching and teaching children in urban communities.

CATHERINE S. MURRAY LIFETIME SERVICE AWARD
JULIE McDONALD, PH.D.

Dr. Julie McDonald has extensive University- and College-level service, including multiple terms on the Faculty Senate Executive Committee, Council College Executive Committee, and the Grievance Committee. She made significant contributions to the implementation of the General Education Program, concurrently serving on or chairing multiple GEP committees. For nine years she chaired the Department of Philosophy, and its identity was forged under her leadership.

Dr. McDonald has been a leader on issues of diversity and inclusion throughout her career, directing the gender studies minor and the Committee on the Status of Women, hiring diverse faculty and bringing diverse speakers to campus, advocating for marginalized persons, and modelling inclusive pedagogy. She is also a tireless advocate for the faith-justice mission of Saint Joseph's University. She has made singular contributions to the University's service-learning program, cultivating its student leaders and mentoring its junior faculty members both informally and through the service-learning program's faculty learning communities. As one colleague puts it, Dr. McDonald "truly relishes in the joys of others and suffers in their struggles: A true model of Jesuit education."

Another colleague observes that Dr. McDonald is an expert at "radical hospitality and building intentional communities." Indeed, much of her most important service has been to attend to the small details that are nevertheless essential for allowing others to feel at home. This is the often-unrecognized labor of community building that makes Saint Joseph's such a special place.

EXPLANATION OF ACADEMIC REGALIA

The first year in the academic life of Saint Joseph's College opened with a ceremony, the Mass of the Holy Spirit, and closed with a ceremony, a commencement exercise. In the years since, the academic year at Saint Joseph's has continued to open with a solemn Mass of the Holy Spirit and to close with a formal commencement. Thus firmly rooted in the history of Saint Joseph's, the ceremony in which you share today is part of a still older historical tradition, that of the medieval university, where as early as the 13th century, the awarding of academic degrees was attended with great ceremony and solemnity.

Today's academic procession replicates the march through the streets of Paris (or one of the other great university centers of the time) of the doctors and masters of the university, their somber gowns, brightened by the colored ornamentation of their hoods, testifying to their status as members of a corporate body, free of feudal controls, which alone possessed the right to fix the standards for academic degrees and licenses. Their gowns and hoods, practical garments designed to ward off the chill of unheated lecture halls and libraries and to provide adequate space to shelter books and manuscripts, provide the models for the gowns worn on ceremonial occasions by the professors and students of today.

The cut of the gown indicates the level of the degree. The bachelor's gown, always black in color, is cut simply, with long, pointed sleeves, and is worn closed. The traditional master's gown resembles the bachelor's except for the cut of the sleeves; these are quite long and cut above the elbow so that the lower part of the sleeve, closed at the bottom, hangs behind the wearer's arm or coat sleeve. Much more elaborate is the doctor's gown, embellished with velvet panels down the front and around the neck and with three velvet chevrons on each of its bell-shaped sleeves. The master's and doctor's gowns may be worn open or closed.

Hoods also vary in cut according to the degree represented; the bachelor's again being the most simple and doctor's the most elaborate. The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the university that granted the wearer's highest degree, and the color of the bordering velvet indicates the field of study to which the degree pertains.

THE SEAL OF SAINT JOSEPH'S UNIVERSITY

The first seal of Saint Joseph's College designed in 1852, the year of incorporation, featured a half-length figure of St. Joseph holding the Christ Child. The choice of this image for the first corporate seal reflects the founding of the college at St. Joseph's, the first Catholic church in Philadelphia, as well as the piety of Felix Joseph Barbelin, S.J., pastor of the church and founder of the college. This first seal was surrounded by one star for each state in the Union, a wreath of olive leaves and a bald eagle holding a banner inscribed E Pluribus Unum (Out of Many, One) at crest. The arms of the republic would have been important symbols for the new college to put forward, founded, as it was, at a time when the loyalty and patriotism of Catholics was questioned by Nativists.

By the turn of the century, the college had left the safety of the founding parish church, built a splendid new campus in North Philadelphia and developed a collegiate structure and identity. In 1903, John F. X. O'Connor, S.J. designed a new seal, more in keeping with the new collegiate identity. His design included most of the heraldic emblems, or charges, found in the modern shield of Saint Joseph's University.

The modern shield is quartered, that is, divided into four equal parts by a cross. In the upper left quarter, the dexter chief in heraldic terms, are fifteen bands (bends): seven gold and eight red. The seven gold bands represent the seven sons of the House of Loyola: St. Ignatius and his six brothers. Red and gold are traditional as they are the heraldic colors of the royal House of Castille, to which the Loyola's were loyal.

In the upper right quarter, the sinister chief, is the coat of arms of the House of Loyola: two wolves at a kettle, said to symbolize the hospitality of the House. In the lower left quarter, the dexter base, is a lily, an iconographic attribute of St. Joseph, the patron of the university.

In the lower right quarter, the sinister base, is the emblem of the Society of Jesus. The letters "IHS" inscribed in a radiating sun at center are the Greek iota, eta, and sigma, the first three letters of the word "Jesus" in Greek. Rising out of the "H" is a cross, the symbol of redemption and salvation through Christianity. Below are three nails symbolizing the Passion of Christ.

The seal of the university is composed of the full heraldic shield with a periphery bearing the words "Saint Joseph's University Philadelphia 1851." The shield is used for institutional identification and ornamentation while the seal is used on diplomas, transcripts, and for the attestation of documents.

ALMA MATER

*Saint Joseph's hail! In song we praise our mother dear and fair.
In life's grim battle, we'll march on with Faith and strength to dare.
For valiant deeds make stout our hearts to prove your heirs are true.
So come rejoice and with one voice pledge loyal love to you.*

*Saint Joseph's hail! Our blood runs proud to hold tradition's fame, for words of gold on history's scroll shed glory on your name.
To honor God, to love God's world, crusaders for each fray.
Against the sky our colours fly, deep crimson folds and gray.*

Music: F. Edward Bigham '43 | Words: Robert F. McKeon, S.J.
